Sharp Drop in Stocks Due to Grain Conditions.

NEW LOW RECORDS FOR YEAR

New York, June 28 .- There was no essential change to-day in the character of the news from that part of the spring wheat section lying in the States of Minresota and North and South Dakota, which has become superficially the one dominant factor of the moment in the security market. There were some reports of dry and hot weather in parts of these States, with also lower temperathres and fairly heavy showers in other

The tendency in the wheat market on the produce exchanges was upward throughout, and, indeed, stock market prices again declined violently in the early trading, a large number of the leading stocks making new low records for the year.

Prices Recover Somewhat. After this, the activity of the market was less and prices recovered somewhat, closing irregularly, but with the majority of stocks showing small net changes. This action of the market was, of course, differently construed. One view was that at its lower levels stronger and more definite support was extended to values than has been at any time since the beginning last Thursday of the recent Wabas sharp decline. From this it was to be in-Yerred that the downward movement had run its course.

Another contention was that a large buying-in of contracts for the fall took place to-day, which had no other effect than of leaving prices at about yesterday's last quotations. Possibly upon the whole the balance of speculative opinion led more toward optimism at the close of the day than it did yesterday, because, of the day than it did yesterday, because, first, of some consideration of the large fall in the market that has just occurred, and secondly, because of the bringing forward of a number of sound reasons for looking at the general crop prospects

It may be conceded that the causes of the late weakness in the market are not exclusively those of agricultural proba-While the money market just now is easy, and while the course of foreign exchange points strongly to the likelihood that substantial financial help will be received from Europe this year in moving the crops, yet there is a general feeling that, in view of the already expanded state of banking credit in the Western States, more money will have to be sent from the East to the West this fall for moving the crops than has been sent in recent seasons, and this may produce higher money rates in the Eastern financial centers than was seen last

An influence that has worked and continues to work with great force against the stock market is the growth of an idea that the country has been living ex- Westinghouse Elec.
